We understand this can be a stressful time, but you're not alone. There are people who can help and things you can do.

If you're feeling overwhelmed, or that you can't cope with your finances there is help available to support your mental wellbeing at this time. Go to www.moneyhelper.org.uk/wellbeing or phone 0800 138 7777.

It's time to take action

- 1 Get free debt advice. Help is at hand. You can get free, non-judgemental and independent help and advice from a number of organisations. You should first visit MoneyHelper's Debt Advice Locator Tool: www.moneyhelper.org.uk/debt-advice-locator. You can also call 0800 138 7777 or WhatsApp message +44 7701 342744.

See over for other organisations you can contact.

Debt advisers can help you with the following steps, as we know they can be hard to do on your own.

- 2 Work out how much money you owe. To do this, you can make a list of all the organisations you owe money to. A debt adviser can help you.
- 3 Contact the peer-to-peer (P2P) platform which arranged your loan. Let them know you are having problems. They may be able to discuss options for paying back what you owe.
- 4 Identify priority debts and put them first. Some debts are more urgent than others, for example, mortgage, rent, council tax/ rates, or gas or electricity arrears.

To keep in mind

- You may be entitled to 'breathing space' – a defined period where you have protections from legal action taken against you. Speak to a debt adviser, who can set out your options.
- Further borrowing to repay debts is generally not a good idea especially if you take out high interest loans – you could pay more in the long run.
- You may be able to ask a court for more time to repay a debt – but only in some circumstances. Speak to a debt adviser before considering court action. Keep copies of letters and emails in case these are needed by the court.

Doing nothing could make things worse

You could end up paying more in interest and charges. Missed payments could affect your credit rating and make it more difficult to get credit in future. If you continue not to make payment this could lead to legal action against you for repayment or the return of goods on hire purchase.
